

Dr. Prashant Bhangui, MS (Surgery), Master in HPB Surgery and Liver Transplantation (Henri Bismuth Hepatobiliary Institute, France), European Inter University Diploma in HPB Oncology, currently holds the position of Associate Director, Hepatobiliary and Liver Transplant Surgery at the Institute of Liver Transplantation and Regenerative Medicine, Medanta - The Medicity, Delhi NCR, a Center with one of the largest experience in living donor liver transplantation worldwide (close to 3800 LDLT's). His key areas of clinical expertise and research include the multidisciplinary management of patients with hepatobiliary cancers like hepatocellular carcinoma and colorectal liver tumours, developing the field of Transplant Oncology, as well as advances and innovations in living donor liver transplantation. For his academic and clinical excellence in management of patients with HCC, he was awarded the prestigious K.N. Udupa Memorial Oration 2016 by the Indian Society Of Organ Transplantation (ISOT), and the Vanguard Award 2016 by the International Liver Transplant Society (ILTS). Dr.Prashant has been elected to key positions in International Societies like the ILTS [Vanguard Committee Chair, 2018-19, current Member of the Education and Scholarship committee, Development Committee, and Publication Committee], and is also an Executive Council Member of the Liver Transplant Society of India (LTSI), heading the Task Force on Education and Fellowships. He is also an active member of the ESOT, ELITA, AASLD, ILDLT Study Group, IASGO, ISLS, ISOT, Les Compagnons Hepatobiliaire. He serves on the Reviewer Panel for Hepatology, Journal Of Hepatology, Transplantation, Liver Transplantation, Transplant International, World Journal Of Surgery, among others, and is an Associate Editor for the Journal Transplantation, the Official Journal of the ILTS and TTS.